Southern Accepts the Ever-Present Challenge

Each day at Southern High School is representative of a challenge. This challenge can be seen in the classroom and during sporting events, any place, in fact, where students are gathered to learn and triumph.

Challenges successfully met each day build into years of worthwhile accomplishment. Such challenges are recognized by the staff of the Highlander. For this reason we have chosen "The Ever-Present Challenge" as the theme of our 1968 edition. The student body has acknowledged the challenge and readily accepts the dare of conquest.

ADMINISTRATION —

Directors of the Ever-Present Challenge

Principalship Demands Distribution of Talent

Mr. Rodeheaver carefully checks an attendance report for possible errors.

Robert F. Rodeheaver, Southern's principal, continually provides for the numerous demands made upon his office by students and instructors. Mr. Rodeheaver finds that being principal requires much time and patience. He must try to distribute his time and talents among teaching duties, extra-curricular activities and administrative and supervisory duties. Our chief administrator must find time for all his mandatory duties as well as allotting time for certain discretionary duties, such as greeting visitors.

Our principal was born and raised in Preston County, West Virginia. He later studied at West Virginia University. In 1958, he earned his Master's degree and served as principal at Center Street. Four years later he accepted the principalship at Northern High School. He is now completing his second year as Southern's director.

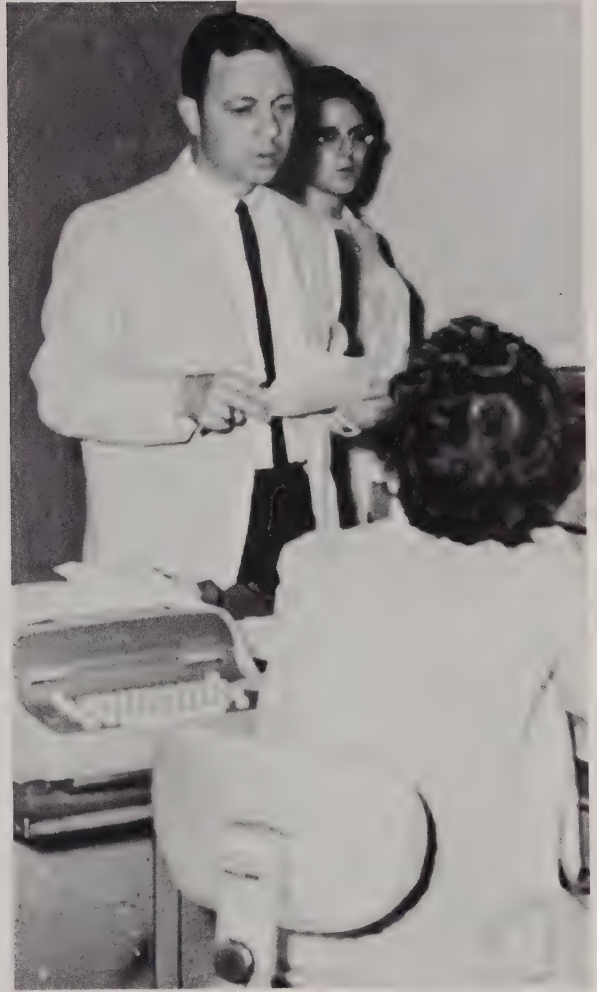

Mrs. Jean Wolfe consults Mr. Rodeheaver on a seemingly amusing matter.

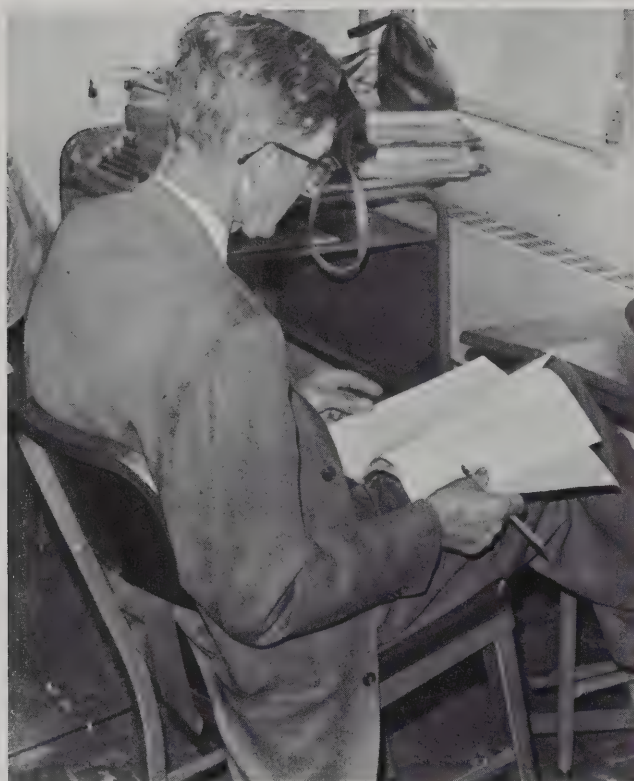

Mr. Rodeheaver and his secretary, Mrs. Wolfe, strive to handle office business efficiently.

Vice-Principal To Begin 35th Year of Service

Mr. Everly rechecks a register to make sure there have been no mistakes in its totaling.

Carl Everly, vice-principal, was born in Garrett County. He attended Western Maryland College where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree. Later he furthered his education at the University of West Virginia where he received his Master of Arts degree. He taught many subjects before accepting his present position. These subjects included chemistry, physics, general science, biology, math, woodshop, and driver education.

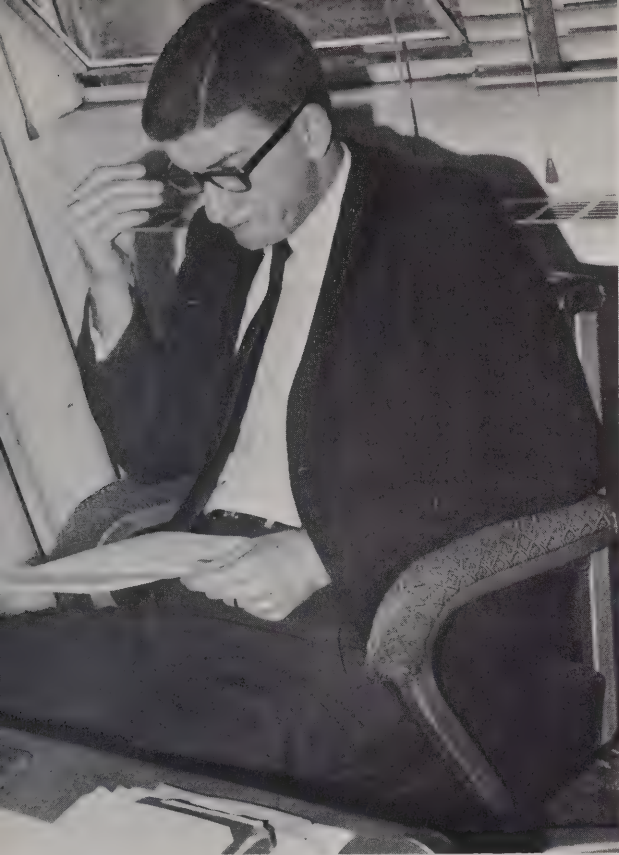

Among the numerous duties of Mr. Everly is the arrangement of the dismissal schedule. He supervises the transportation of the students as well as pupils while enroute to and from school. He has the responsibility for the day to day operation of the lunch program.

Mr. Everly has served as Southern's vice-president for 34 years. He aids Mr. Rodeheaver in deciding most school policies and regulations.

Mr. James Zimmerman, the administrative assistant at Southern, graduated from Davis and Elkins College with a Bachelor of Science degree. He teaches Algebra II and Trigonometry during the school day, as well as supervises the annual homecoming parade, all assemblies and American Education Week. He serves as advisor to the Student Council and is responsible for the disciplining of students.

Mr. Sporlein, our guidance counselor, graduated from Bridgewater College with a Bachelor's degree. He has done graduate work at both the University of Maryland and West Virginia University.

He maintains that every individual is important and that the person must develop his talents to their maximum potential. He believes students must work for an understanding of themselves in order to develop their character for the future years.

Administrative Assistant Emphasizes Efficiency

Mrs. Priscilla Wolfe (top) and Miss Betty Tusing (bottom) are Southern's efficient office secretaries.

Mr. Sporlein and Becky Reckart carefully check students' schedule arrangements.

Teachers of the English Department stress a well co-ordinated and a smooth, linking development in a student's language growth.

Methods of instruction which allow for the varying interests and abilities of pupils are of prime interest to the department. By these methods students are directed to express themselves clearly, to think logically, to become selective in their reading habits, and to write correctly and effectively.

During a yearly course of English, students are not only taught the essentials of grammatical correctness, but they are also urged to acquire a sense of respect and thoughtfulness for the greatness of literary achievement. Pupils are acquainted with the brilliance of literary masters, past and present.

Mrs. Dorothy Purbaugh

Mrs. Margaret Smith

Mrs. Jean Wolfe

Come now Mrs. Kale, homeroom isn't that much of a drudgery.

Speech Class Teaches Individual Interpretation

Speech classes, instructed by Mr. Michael Posey, develop the speaking habits of participants by teaching them to speak fluently on many subject matters. It promotes the oral and dramatic interpretation skills of individual pupils.

The art of debate is taught to interested students. Those participants travel to neighboring schools for competitive debate.

All speech class members are urged to enter competitive public speaking events and contest invitations.

Those enrolled in the class must also participate in the activities of the Southern Speech Association, an extension of class work.

Mr. Michael Posey

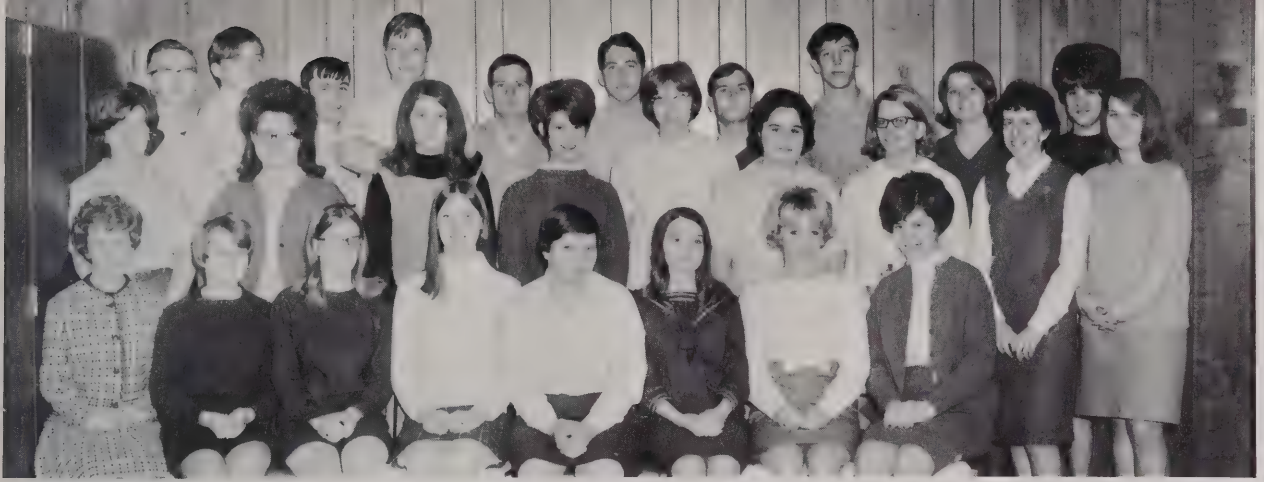

Gwendolyn Fairfax's (Sherry Frantz) versatile mind keeps Ernest Worthing (Kim Frederick) in a dither, but obviously he is enjoying it!

Members of Southern's debating team, Dennis DeBerry and Jim Jones, meet their opponents from East Fairmont High School.

Library Assistants Aid Students and Teachers

Miss DeBerry

Miss Bond
Assistant

Aiding in the functions of our new library, student library assistants learn the operations and skills necessary to adequately utilize the facilities offered. The library assistants, under the direction of Miss Martha DeBerry, learn by experience the correct means by which they are to aid students making use of the library. The preparations of magazines, newspapers, and pamphlets for use by teachers and students compose a portion of their work.

Social Studies Prepares Youth for Adult Life

During homeroom Mr. Johnson writes a famous quotation on the board to inspire his students.

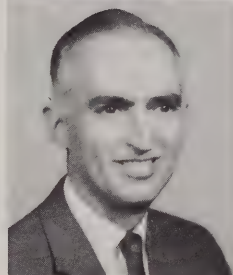

Mrs. Virginia McManis

Mr. Ruthvan Morrow

Mr. Berlin Wilhelm

The social studies department strives to transmit the heritage and values of our democratic nation to the students of Southern High. Their aim is to prepare this present day youth for the responsible citizenship of tomorrow.

A challenging program of historical study awaits every student who embarks upon his high school career. Junior high school pupils learn the basics of general history and of U.S. history. As freshmen, young men and women learn of the government in which they will soon have a part. Sophomores study the history of the world and the following year concentrate on American history. Seniors learn the problems and complexities of our ever-changing society.

Mrs. McManis uses a film strip to further explain world problems to her civics class.

Laboratory Facilities Develop Language Skills

Mrs. Janice Hutchinson

Mrs. Jeanne Whitehair

Mrs. Whitehair serves some delicacies to her students during a French party.

Mrs. Whitehair instructs Lu-Jean Liller in the operation of the headphones in the French laboratory.

The French department attempts to aid pupils in experiencing a new medium of communication. Instructors promote comprehension of foreign cultures and the development of a new set of speaking skills.

Students learn, within limits, to understand and speak the French language in daily living situations. Through directed response drills, lessons are taught without conscious translation. Advanced learners may eventually read and write in fluent French.

Southern's language laboratory is equipped with the most modern facilities for rapid learning. Each student sits in an individual booth equipped with stereophonic headsets and control dials. From the main control panel the instructor is able to listen and speak to pupils individually or to the entire class.

Mr. David Slagle

Mr. Scott Ward

Mr. Willard Wolfe

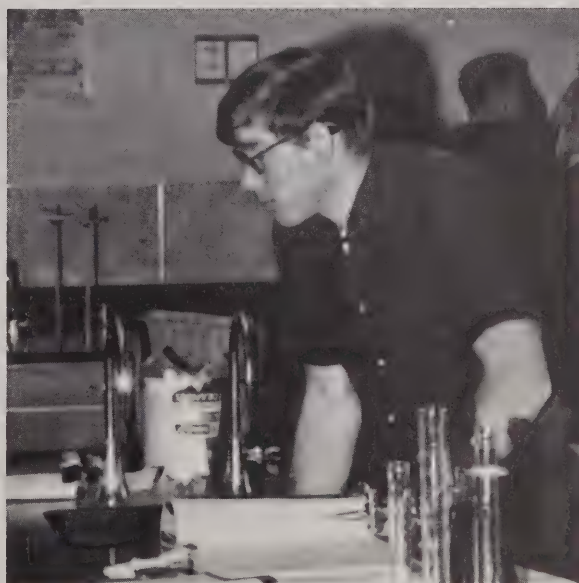

Mr. Richards can still smile after a day of lab experiments?

The science program offers general science, earth science, biology, chemistry, physics, and senior science. Texts for these courses are integrated so as to make the study continuous from seventh through twelfth grades.

Improved laboratory facilities have widened the area of experimentation and allowed students to gain an insight into scientific principles. Those enrolled in chemistry and physics were given additional lab time on alternating days. This permitted them to complete problems and experiments.

Instructors present information necessary to a basic understanding of the fundamentals of science. Students learn the increasing importance of science in this modern age of research and space exploration.

Math Students Value Accuracy and Observation

Mr. Charles Bennett

Mr. Mason Callis

Mrs. Jean Grose

Mrs. Dorothy Sanders

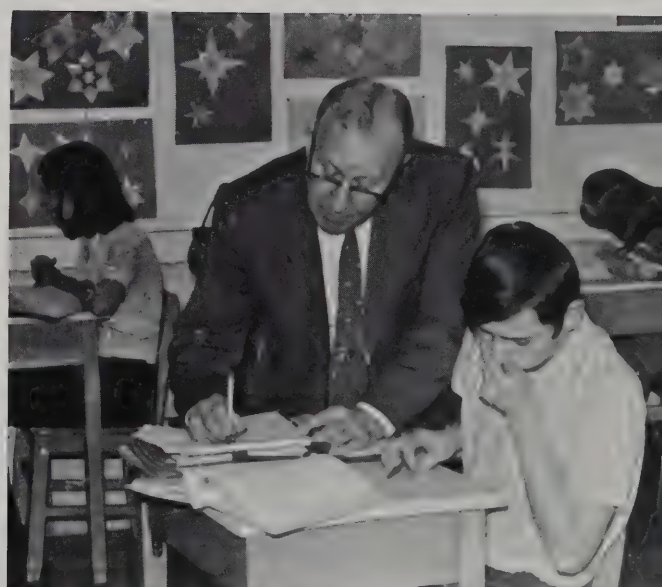

The math department offers courses in Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and General Mathematics.

Academic students are taught the new symbols and concepts of modern math.

General math students aim to understand the fundamentals of arithmetic for use in practical daily needs.

All math students are taught that accuracy, clear thinking, and careful observation are invaluable in obtaining benefits from math courses. Pupils must understand and identify the intricate relationship of numbers through new techniques of learning and instruction.

Mathematics plays a large role in every individual's life. Mathematics must be comprehended not only for careers in the fields of science and technology, but for practical needs as well. Instructors of the department aim to instill this within every pupil.

Mr. Callis gives individual attention to the needs of one of his junior high pupils, Don Uphole.

Mrs. Grose finds that explaining a confusing problem can be difficult.

Miss Mary Lou Teets

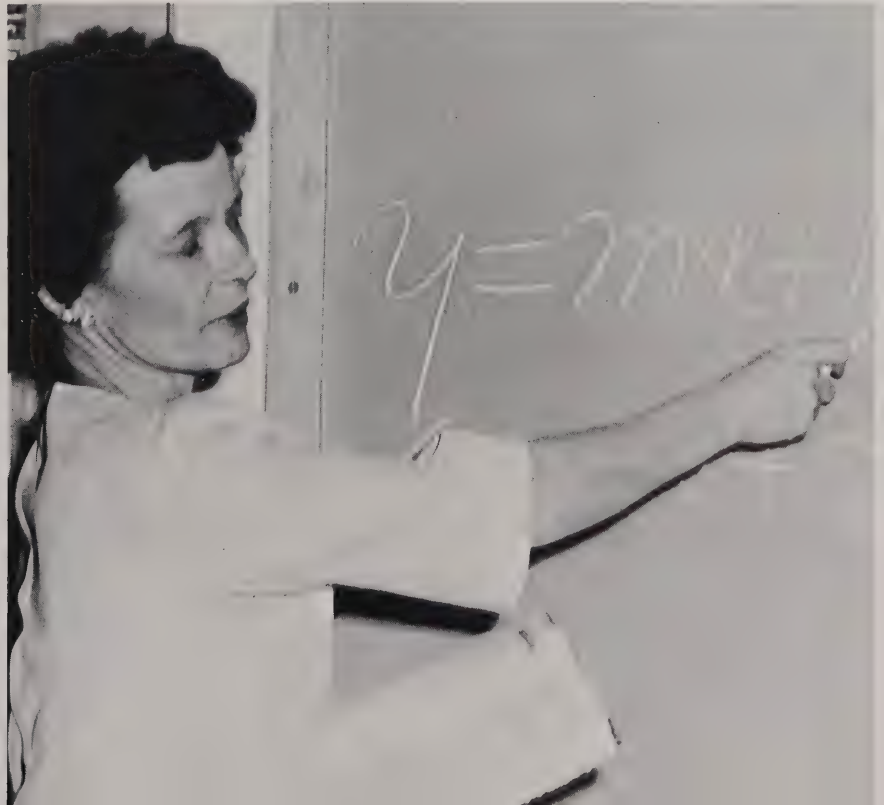

Mrs. Evelyn K. Watson

Mr. Albert Whitmer

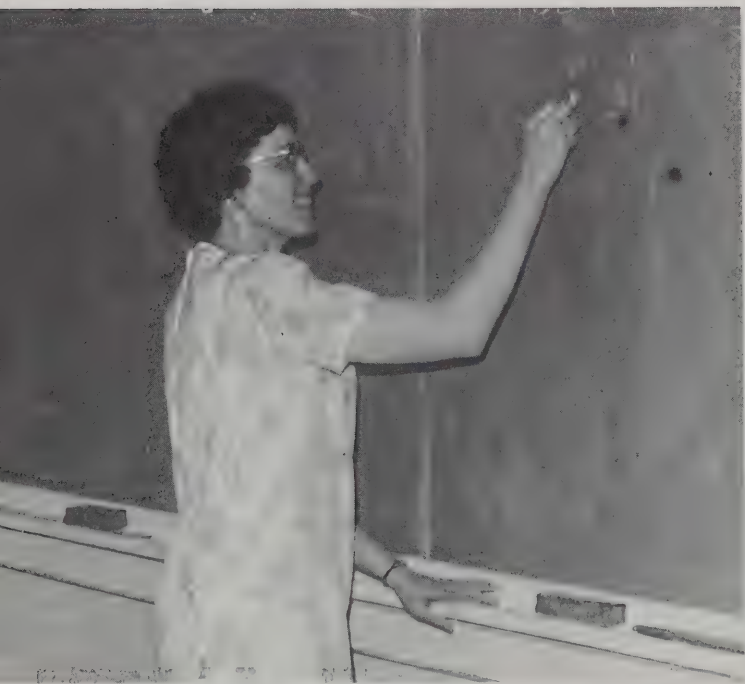

Mrs. Watson gives an explanation during one of her Algebra classes.

Mrs. Miller studies the outcome of a speed test.

Mrs. Wilhelm writes an assignment on the board for the benefit of her students.

Mr. DeNeal Dean

Mrs. Theoda Miller

Mrs. Corile Wilhelm

The business education program at Southern aims to discover and direct the special abilities and aptitudes individual pupils have for business occupations and practices. Personal skills and understandings essential in conducting commonplace business affairs are also developed.

Students enrolled in the business education curriculum may train for immediate employment or may specialize in the business world by continuing their education after graduation.

A choice of business courses are offered to students pursuing this program. Four different areas of study—clerical, secretarial, bookkeeping, and distributive education—cultivate the interest of pupils.

An effort is made to encourage academic, general and vocational students to take at least one business course.

Typing student, Linda Weimer, unwisely stops during an accuracy test to probe into the philosophy surrounding "Fred did feed the three red deer."

Miss Barbara Colabrese
Miss Frances Patterson

Miss Colabrese joins her music students in singing a favorite song.

Music and Art Courses Stress Self-Expression

The music and art departments strive to aid the student by developing his individuality and creativity and also by contributing to his cultural development.

Seeking to make music the means of creating lives that are happy and culturally rich, music classes form an integral part of a student's background. The department hopes to create a flexible music curriculum and to bring as much variety and richness as possible into the advancement of each student. General music classes teach the basic concepts and the history of music. Specialized music courses consist of chorus and band.

Art students learn the fundamentals of design and color while discovering their talent. A brush or pen may be the means by which a student may express his inner feelings and ideas.

Mr. Clever stops for a moment during a concert assembly in order to explain the songs and their composers to the enthralled audience.

Mrs. Mildred Meyer

Mrs. Elizabeth Randol

Mrs. Carolyn Updyke

Linda Groves and Barbara Tasker was assisted by Mrs. Meyer in the preparation of pancakes in the home economics room.

Students of Home Ec Acquire Self-Realization

Sue Sharps asks the opinion of Mrs. Randol before deciding upon a pattern for her future sewing project. Carolyn Mayle watches in indifference to the subject.

The basic phases of home economics include family relations, clothing construction, moral values, home care and beautification, money management, and nutritional values. Students spent several weeks in each of these courses of study.

Emphasis is placed on self-realization throughout the course. Instructors strive to develop in their students an inquiring mind, a responsible character and a creative nature. Human relationships are stressed as pupils develop an appreciation and respect for personal friendships, cooperation, courtesy, homemaking and family life. Added to this girls learn the importance of economic efficiency and civic responsibility.

To climax the year the department presented the annual style show.

Vocational Agriculture Creates Rural Leadership

Vocational agriculture provides an opportunity for all interested students to participate in a worthwhile agricultural program designed to meet their individual needs. The class maintains the importance of having highly trained and efficient farmers who have learned the basics of crop-growing, become organized, specialized and mechanized planters.

The course stresses the use of actual planting and experimenting to aid future farmers in the development of their vocations. Films and lectures are used to orientate pupils to conditions and different environments surrounding them. Rural leadership is developed as well as technical agriculture skills.

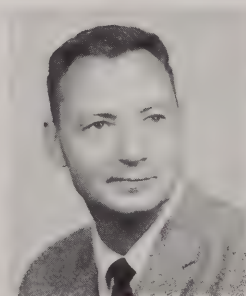

Those who will soon be the farmers of Garrett County are given the perspective necessary to advance farming. The students are trained to make farming an efficient business.

Mr. Richard Bishoff

Trainees Acquire Skills for Future Vocations

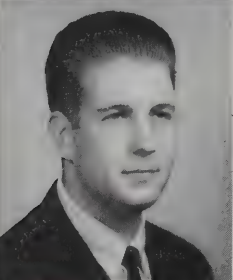

Mr. J. Arch Baker

Mr. Fred C. Carroll

Mr. Lawrence D. Groer

Mr. Asa McCain

Mr. Watson (above) illustrates a point for the benefit of his students. Jim Hardesty (below) practices a skill he learned in wood shop.

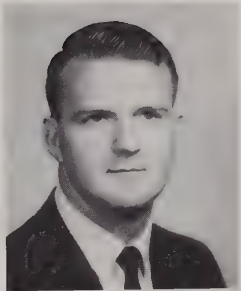

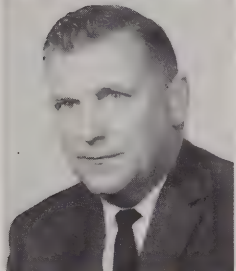

The vocational education department judges its success on the proportion of its trainees who enter into the trade or occupational field for which they have been trained. The instructors' goal is to suit pupils for successful employment in a practical field. By learning to earn a living students begin to foster ethical ideals and good citizenship.

Practical arts classes teach specific skills, trade knowledge, related theory, and industrial appreciation. With this knowledge students are made aware of the importance of industry in their social and economic environment. Habits in the use and safety of tools and machinery are also developed.

Physical Education Develops Health and Agility

Southern's physical education program aims to make the student aware of his physical abilities. The course offers varied activities such as calisthenics, tumbling, jumping, and dancing.

Numerous times during the school year students are given tests to determine their rate of physical fitness. This enables instructors to review and measure a student's progress. Students themselves can also judge their own abilities and limitations.

Besides physical alertness and dexterity, the class emphasizes habits of good eating and proper rest. These practices will hopefully be instilled in pupils and maintained throughout adult life.

Safety Education Emphasizes Courteous Driving

Mr. Flinn familiarizes a young driver with actual driving practices during a training session through Oakland.

Mr. Eugene Flinn

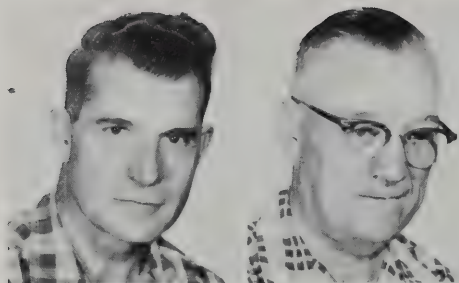

The purpose of the Driver Education program in Southern High School is to promote safer and better driving habits. The head of the Driver Ed. department, Mr. Flinn, teaches the students to drive safely, smoothly, and economically.

There are two different levels of the Driver Ed. classes. One level, classroom instruction, teaches the correct way to drive, familiarizes the student with the parts of the car, and teaches him that the best way to drive is the safe and courteous way.

The second level is on-the-road training. This is a very important phase as it lets the student have actual driving experience under trained guidance.

Service Departments Perform Essential Duties

The maintenance department provides the essential services necessary for operating our school. To preserve the beauty of our grounds and building and to keep utilities in functioning order are listed among their duties.

As a component of the maintenance staff the National Youth Corps was set up to give financial aid to students from lower income families. Its goal is to decrease the number of "dropouts" by supplying custodial and clerical jobs for these students.

Cafeteria workers offer lunches prepared for the benefit of the student body and teachers under proper sanitary conditions.

Seniors Enjoy Whirl of Homecoming Festivities

Annual Homecoming activities sped to blazing start with a bonfire and pep rally on October twenty-sixth. Cheerleaders directed songs and cheers to arouse the spirit of fans for the big game and Coach Bolding announced Homecoming king and queen, Jack Alvarez and Connie Baker.

Preceding the game on Friday evening was the annual parade through Oakland. Various clubs and organizations of Southern participated by entering decorated floats.

Saturday was a busy day for G.A.A. members who spent many hours decorating the gymnasium for the Homecoming Dance. The Stardusters provided music as both students and faculty members enjoyed an evening of dancing.

Climaxing a memorable Homecoming was the introduction of the king and queen and their court.

An apparent lunatic (Arnold Miller) who is somewhat feeble and deaf seeks help during a presentation of the senior class play.

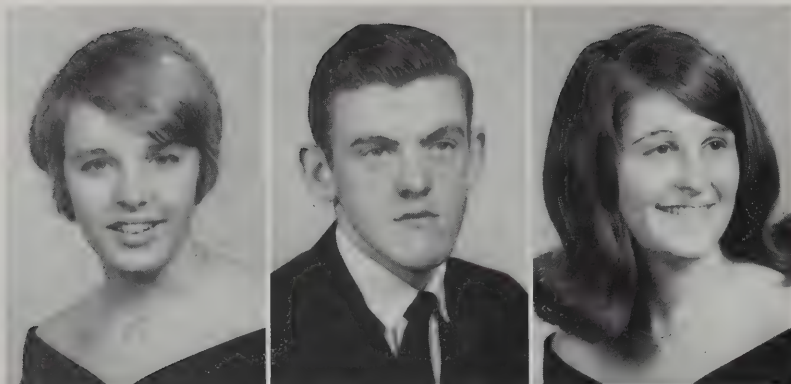

This year's senior class production was invaded by a play entitled "The Nit-Wits". Tommy, a young college student, needed money to return to school. He decided to earn it by becoming a psychiatrist for a day while his parents were on vacation.

Patients soon began arriving with all sorts of wild and hilarious problems.

The boys were surprised by the appearance of their girlfriends and were faced with some explaining to do. To make amends the boys decided to have a party that evening.

During the party some unexpected guests began arriving, Tommy's patients. Then his parents returned to explain the strange events. They had hired actors to patronize Tommy's clinic and teach him a lesson.

Brian Holsopple appears quite willing to give his place on this particular Kennywood-bound bus to Ron Thrasher.

Members of the senior class enjoyed a week of graduation rehearsals and activities during their finals days at Southern High. Through fund-raising projects and dues the seniors earned money for a class trip to Kennywood Park. Chaperones and students alike experienced a day of thrill-packed amusements.

The following day the class traveled to a local picnic area. Even though the day was cool and windy a few seniors ventured onto a muddy playing field for a softball game while others hiked, sang, or simply warmed themselves by the fire.

To conclude the week seniors were honored at a senior luncheon and Awards Assembly. Recognition was given for scholastic and extracurricular activities.

On June 4 the senior class of 1968 filed into the gymnasium to take their place among the graduates of Southern High. Brian Holsopple opened the ceremonies with an address of welcome. Speeches were also presented by Miss Judith Simpson and Miss Emily Harvey, valedictorian and salutatorian. "I Dare You" Awards were presented by Mr. Rodeheaver to recipients, Judith Simpson and Andy Cosby.

Mr. Donald V. Hock addressed the graduates on "Thinking Big for Tomorrow's World." Mr. Hock stressed the importance of an individual's attitude in our modern society.

A junior and senior high computer dance was carried out by the class which proved to be very successful.

To raise money for the prom, the class sold refreshments during the home basketball games.

Preparation for the prom began early in May, after the juniors divided into committees which included invitations, rules, refreshments, decorations, favors, and clean-up. The prom was held on May 25 and proved to be a smashing success.

"Do you expect me to learn something that funny, Mr. Boal?" wonders history student, Darlene Ellis.

In-Law Problems Plague Newlyweds During Play

Mary's Big Lamb was about the hectic adventure of two newlyweds which takes place during a July afternoon. Mary Lamb (Brenda Phillippi) and Edwin Lamb (Wayne Callis) live in an apartment in Mission Hills. They have two maids Ada Spriggins (Sandy Cryzter) and Dodie Pringle (Pam Frantz) who has a wrestler boyfriend Blitz Burley (Townie Grant). The newlyweds share their lives with two friends Sally Peters (Karen Sanders) and Kip Van Kirk (Bowie Grant). The lives of these happy-go-lucky individuals are complicated by the arrival of Codd Fishback (Terry Miller) and Lobelia Bogtrotter (Norma Friend), old-time sweethearts. While tempers soar high the group welcomes Carmencita Del Toro, a fiery seniorita (Dottie Glaze). She has a bull-fighting brother, Don Rodrigo (Tom Hauser) who is ready for any kind of bloodshed except his own! Then arrives Spider Webb, (John Purbaugh) a hired gun killer.

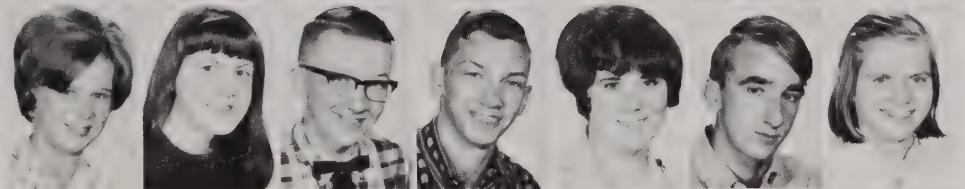

The thinker, Kip Van Kirk (Bowie Grant) as he makes his starring debut in "Mary's Big Lamb".

Student Council Links Pupils to Administration

One of our most prominent organizations at Southern High is the Student Council. Linking the administration and student body, elected members are responsible for performing this obligation during council meetings held every two weeks.

A major project of the council was the preparation and distribution of Student Hand Books. To finance this endeavor the organization sponsored various money-raising activities including dances and "Slave Day." Arrangements for the annual Homecoming Parade were also the responsibility of the Student Council. Among various other projects were the sponsorship of games played away and surveys of the senior class touching such subjects as the draft and the voting age.

Projects and activities were under the supervision of Mr. James Zimmerman.

Student Council parliamentarians, Edwin Wathall and Dennis DeBerry, consult Robert's Rules of Order while advisor, Mr. Zimmerman, offers his advice concerning the solution of a club problem.

Honor Society Rewards Academic Accomplishment

Membership in the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society is a reward for the superior academic efforts of deserving students. To be eligible a student must have all A's and B's from the tenth grade, or one C and a 3.5 average. Initiates are also chosen on the basis of their qualities of service, leadership and character. Prospective members are approved by a faculty committee.

The Society sponsored a dance to raise funds for the annual initiation and, for the first time, a dinner Speaker for the evening was Mr. Ringer, Supervisor of Secondary Education in the county. Following a candle lighting service presented by the members, initiates were given membership pins and cards.

The National Honor Society's advisor is Mr. Robert Boal.

Quill and Scroll Encourages Literary Talents

To reward excellence and encourage creativity an honorary society for amateur journalists was instituted at Southern High. Mrs. Jean D. Wolfe, Quill and Scroll's advisor, encourages the literary talent of those who are looking to the field of professional career in journalism. To be eligible for membership a student must be a junior or senior and in the upper one third of his class. The prospective member must also have worked on the staff of either the Acorn or the Highlander for at least one year.

Those journalism students who were accepted for membership were initiated during ceremonies held at a banquet in their honor. Initiates received pins denoting their affiliation with Quill and Scroll.

Highlander Records Activities of School Year

The Highlander staff, advised by Mr. Buckley, strives to capture the events of the school year and condense them into an accurate, informative year-book. Through the journalistic knowledge a student gains, he may be enabled to seek a career in the field.

Each staff member was trained in the skills of the department to which he was assigned. Photography enabled students to learn the technology of the camera and to acquire proficiency in taking group pictures and candid shots. The layout department was responsible for designing the body of the year-book. Composing the copy, identifying photos and captioning candid shots, were among the duties of the literary department. The business staff managed the finances and sales campaign.

The Acorn, Southern's student newspaper, not only keeps the pupils and public informed as to school activities, but also expresses the philosophy and thought of the student body. Mrs. Wolfe, advisor to the Acorn, aids the staff in their pursuit for a more concentrated and exacting composition. Veteran members instruct newcomers in all phases of the high school publication. By taking part in the development of the paper, each student receives useful experience which could aid him in a possible career in journalism.

Promising members are sent to the Southern Interscholastic Press Association convention to learn the basic techniques of composition and return to share this knowledge with the remaining staff.

Mrs. Wolfe, Randy Overdorff, and Mary Klacik make plans for the next edition of the Acorn.

Acorn Reveals Thought and View of Student Body

State Coordinator Discusses Teaching Demands

Club members, Becky Michael, Linda Schmidt, Dianna Fitzwater, Lois Graham, Mary J. Brown, and Miss DeBerry, listen to a very interesting talk presented by a guest speaker.

For the purpose of acquainting prospective teachers with the field of education the Future Teachers of America continues at Southern. During meetings held twice a month senior high students learn of career opportunities. Through speakers, often teachers themselves, members examine and attempt to obtain an accurate view of the profession. Among these speakers was Mr. Oscar Jensen, state coordinator of FTA activities, who presented an informal talk on teaching requirements, demands and present needs.

Senior members receive a pin in recognition of attendance and participation in club projects. These included bake sales, a Homecoming float entry, and checking papers and covering classes for teachers. All activities were enacted under the supervision of their advisor, Miss Martha DeBerry.

Clinic Associates Members With Medical Field

The Future Nurses were acquainted with the many aspects of the medical field through visits to area hospitals, and weekly clinic work. In addition, the members viewed films and heard speakers concerning career opportunities. Miss Teets, their advisor, encouraged members to make each of their meetings a worthwhile and informative session.

The year's activities began with a float entry in the Homecoming Parade. Stationery sales provided the financial assistance necessary for a trip to the State Convention and the preparation of favors for the local nursing homes at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

Homemakers Attend State and Regional Meetings

Future Homemakers of America, Front Row: Millie Loughry, Shirley Moreland, Brenda Lewis, Linda Ridder, Mary J. Vicki Knotts, Shirley Beckman, Pricilla Stahl, Sandy Beeghly, and Ruby Brenneman await the beginning of another FHA meeting.

With the basic goal in mind members of the Future Homemakers of America diligently worked to develop a mature interest in the joys and appreciation of homemaking. They strive to enrich the personality physically, mentally, socially, and emotionally.

With the advice of Mrs. Randol, activities throughout the year included the annual Mother-Daughter Tea, a sockhop, and the Future Homemakers of America Week activities. The members of the organization attended a state meeting at College Park as well as a regional meeting in November.

The Southern High Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is associated with the National FHA sponsored by the American Home Economics Association.

George Beckman assumes an attitude of puzzlement as he and Mr. Bishoff survey some greenhouse specimens.

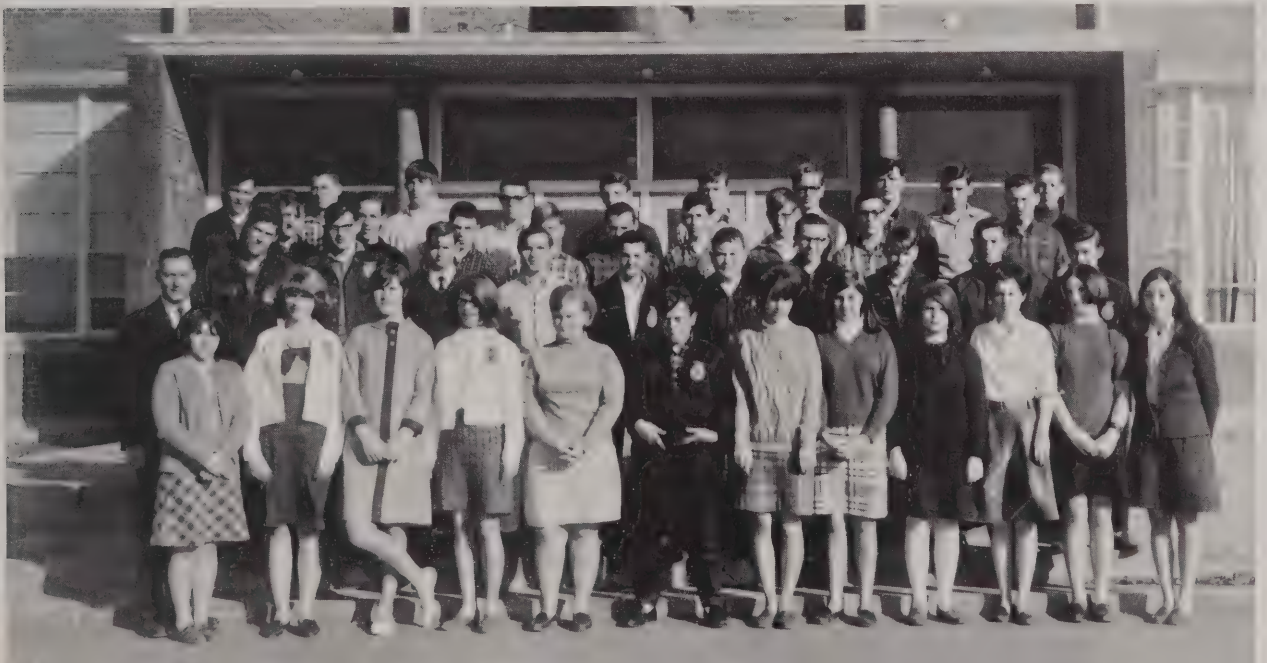

The Future Farmers of America enables both young men and women to learn the techniques and objectives of modern farming. Scientific methods of agriculture and connected industries are taught to these students who will benefit in adult years.

As an extension of class work in vocational agriculture, members are acquainted with the most recent developments in the field of farming. Cultivation of food and the raising of livestock are taught through participation in class and club projects.

Mr. Bishoff, vocational agriculture teacher, advises the FFA.

Future Farmers Is an Extension of Class Work

Audio-Visual Assists in Classroom Instruction

The audio-visual department of Southern High assists interested boys in acquiring a complete and useful knowledge of projectors, phonographs, tape recorders and other related equipment. The boys are first taught how to operate and service the various audio-visual machines which are available to the school. During each class period these students are at the disposal of the teachers. They help them efficiently present films, movies, slides and recordings pertaining to the classes.

Mr. Crone instructs the boys and directs the functions of the group.

Speech Association Places in State Competition

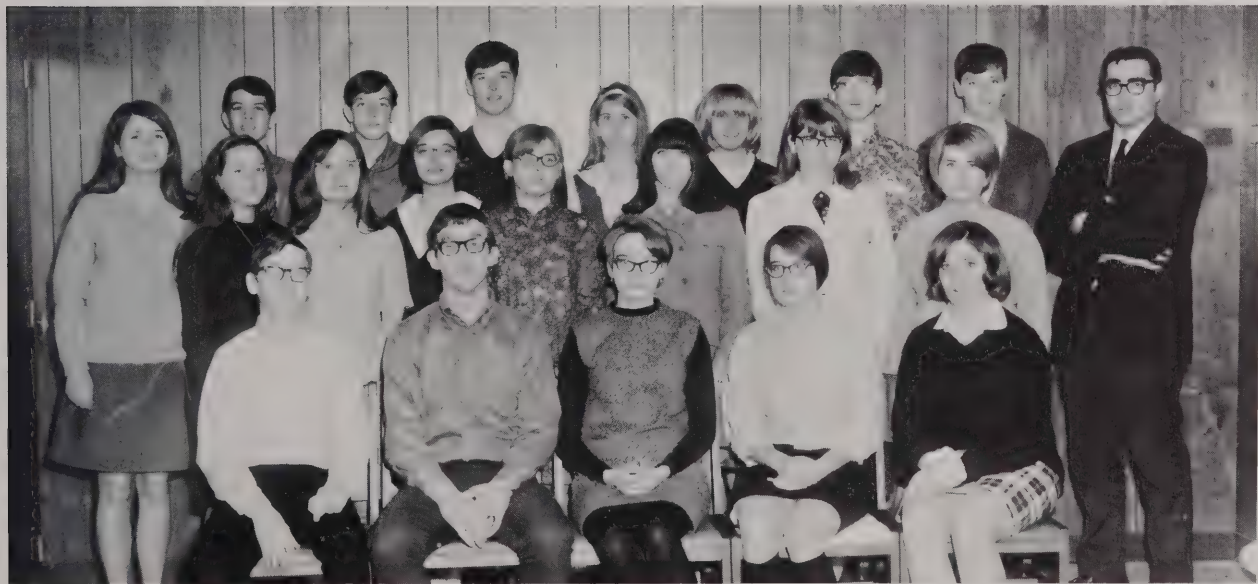

The Southern Speech Association has been active throughout the year in debate, dramatic production, and a weekly radio program. As members of National Thespian Society Troupe #2985, club participants have broadened their activities.

The dramatic talent and skill of club members was displayed with the presentation of "A Night of One-Acts" and "The Importance of Being Earnest!"

The organization participated in the Forensic Tournaments. The participants in these contests traveled to Northern High School, Wheeling College, Johns Hopkins University, Notre Dame Preparatory School and many others. At the Maryland State Forensic Meet Jenny Gosnell placed second in Oral Interpretation. Jim Jones and Dennis DeBerry were undefeated in their debates at this tournament.

During one of the scenes of the speech play, "The Importance of Being Earnest", Susan Boniece tries to convince Kim Frederick that his brother is really very much alive.

Music of "Brigadoon" Envelopes Southern's Stage

Faces are grim as "Brigadoon" characters look upon the dead body of a fallen clansman.

Fiona MacLaren (Rita Shrout) explains the mystery of "Brigadoon" to Tommy Albright (Terry Wolfe) as his hunting companion, Jeff Douglass (Terry King), frowns in disapproval.

Junior Chorus Re-creates Magical Land of Toys

The Junior Chorus marks another phase in Southern's musical curriculum. Miss Barbara Golabrese directs these students toward a beneficial musical appreciation they acquire while finding enjoyment in developing their vocal talent. The class teaches comprehension of music elements and fundamentals.

Activities began in October with their performance at the Autumn Glory Festival. Wearing red blazers, the Junior Chorus accentuated the December Holiday season with choral presentations for the Parent-Teacher's Association and Woodmen of the World. "Babes in Toyland," was chosen for their Christmas musical production. Chorus members recreated the magical land of toys and dreams with songs, scenery, costumes and dances. Springtime brought plans and rehearsals for another musical production, "Brigadoon," involving double casts. The County Choral Concert climaxed a year of enjoyable performances.

Chorus Again Participates in Annual Festival

Although the senior chorus was plagued with a late start, the group made a splendid showing at the Garrett County Choral Festival, Senior Sermon and graduation exercises.

At Senior Sermon they chose for their anthem "Let Us Break Bread Together". Graduation exercises were highlighted with "Climb Every Mountain" and a solo by Harrison Stewart, "The Lord's Prayer".

Members of Southern's senior chorus learn musical concepts through vocal participation. In addition students learn the value of masterpieces in musical composition and to recognize them. By listening and singing chorus members develop their individual vocal talents.

Mrs. Turney and Mrs. Leighton, Southern's Senior Chorus directors, discuss a score of music for the County Choral Festival.

Girl's Athletic Association Fosters Sportsmanship

The Girl's Athletic Association was again a great source of support to the athletic teams. Their goal is to foster a spirit of good sportsmanship in the group's members and also the student body. Mrs. Frame and Mrs. Stemple are the organization's advisors.

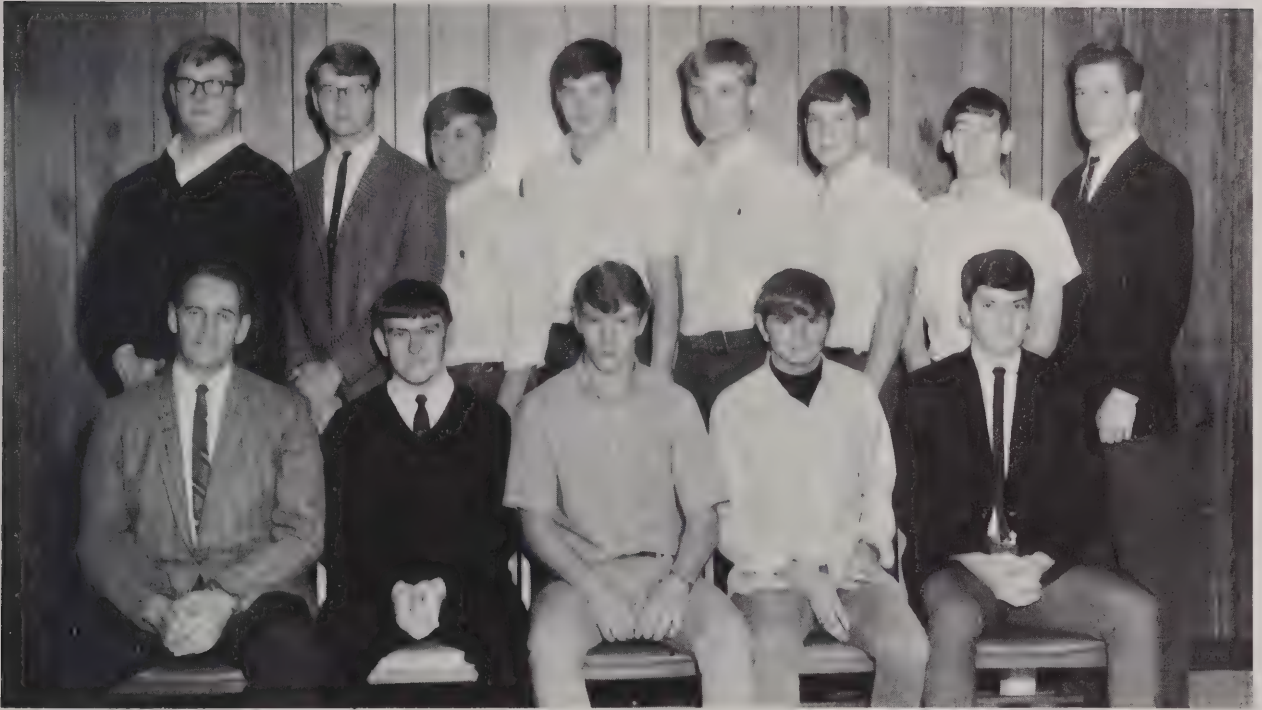

The responsibility of preparing and decorating for the annual Homecoming Dance was foremost in the organization's calendar of events. The girls also sponsored an All Sports Dinner to honor Southern's athletes and the Mother-Daughter Dinner.

The Southern High Varsity Club maintains interest in athletics, creates good sportsmanship and encourages students to participate in athletic events. With the capable assistance of Mr. Richard Travis the club aims to build the character of its members.

Highlight of the year was the basketball game sponsored by the club which featured the Fabulous Magicians playing against the Oakland All-Stars, a group of local contenders. A football banquet, although planned by the Girl's Athletic Association, depended upon the Varsity Club for both support and its success.

Senior Club members received jackets in recognition of their outstanding participation in athletics and in the organization. Trophies and emblems were presented to prominent members for their cooperative support of the club. With this variety of support from the Varsity Club athletics advanced another year in its attempt to build healthy and active student bodies.

SPORTS —

Fusion of Skill and Sportsmanship

Season Emphasizes Awakening of School Spirit

Marking the largest turnout of players in the history of the school, the football season emphasized the awakening of both school spirit and school support.

Our team, losing their first game to Kingwood, retaliated to defeat Valley, St. Francis and Northern. Contributing to the overall success of the Valley game, a tremendous Ram offense tallied 320 yards in running plays. The St. Francis encounter was much more dynamic. Soundly defeating the Trojans 19-0, Southern accumulated 12 first downs compared to only two for the opposing team. A spectacular performance by Richard Browning in the initial play of the Northern game resulted in a 67-yard touchdown run. Later, Southern recovered a Northern fumble and drove to another score.

Southern dropped the next four contests, but made a stunning recovery by defeating Terra Alta. Southern's drive was a booming success, a tremendous finale for a hard-earned season's average.

Sophomore Richard Browning was high scorer after successfully completing six touchdowns and two extra points. Jack Alvarez, senior offensive captain, was close behind with four touchdowns and eight extra points. Southern established a win-loss record of four-five at the conclusion of the season, a hard and well received achievement.

Rams Retain Garrett County Championship Trophy

A splendid display of open field running is made by Pat Flanagan (above) against the Golden Tornadoes. Southern Ram, Pat Flanagan (right), catches pass, runs for first down.

Rams' offensive team: Andy Cosby, 84, Rich Browning, 46, Townie Grant, 70, Dave Scholssnagle, 34, Joe Ashby, 52, Wayne Dunbar, 26, Jack Alvarez, 16, Bowie Grant, 54, Mike Foley, 60, Darrell Kitzmiller, 76, Dave Bosley, 86.

Paul Miller Earns Undefeated Wrestling Title

Agility, quickness, and an applicable knowledge of proper techniques are necessities for grapplers. Penalty holds, such as an over-scissor which could break a person's ankles or a full nelson that could break your opponent's neck, proves wrestling is a dangerous sport to be treated with respect.

Wrestling, a new sport at Southern High School, gained increasing recognition this year by the victories of two wrestlers. Brad Reams conquered West Virginia's former state champion and Paul Miller scored an unblemished record for the year.

Drive and Sportsmanship Spearhead the Varsity

The Southern High Rams had a disappointing season; they only won in three of their nineteen attempts. A triumph over Union High by a score of 71-41 marked the team's first big victory. The Rams' second contest against Union High was also a triumph as the game went into overtime.

One half of the team members were Seniors, leaving six experienced players for next year.

Co-captains were Seniors, Harvey Speicher and Bill Hawkins. Chuck Bateman assisted as manager.

High scorer for the season was Jack Alvarez with 216 points.

This was Coach William Watson's last year with the Rams. He has been with the team for the past three years.

Seniors Have Encountered Southern's Challenge

Departing seniors have encountered Southern's challenge. Behind them they can see instances of accomplishment and defeat. Perhaps these past experiences will guide them in a future which offers the struggle for far-reaching goals. To meet and tackle the everpresent challenge of Southern High School there will yet be the minds of bright and energetic individuals.
